MR. DAN SAROOSHI
Professor of Public International Law, University of Oxford

Professor Dan Sarooshi is Professor of Public International Law in the University of Oxford, a Fellow of the Queen's College, Oxford, and a Fellow of the UK Royal Society for the Arts, Manufactures & Commerce (FRSA). His books include International Organizations and Their Exercise of Sovereign Powers (OUP) and The United Nations and the Development of Collective Security (OUP). These books have been awarded the 2006 Myres S. McDougal Prize by the American Society for the Policy Sciences, the 2001 and 2006 American Society of International Law Book Prizes, and the 1999 Guggenheim Prize by the Swiss Guggenheim Foundation.

Professor Sarooshi was in 2006 appointed by the World Trade Organization (on the nomination of the United Kingdom Government and the European Communities) to the roster of Panellists of the WTO Dispute Settlement System. He also practices as a Barrister at Essex Court Chambers, London from where he advises and represents governments, international organizations, and corporations on public international law, WTO law, and international commercial arbitration.