

MR. LARRY D. JOHNSON

Former Assistant-Secretary-General for Legal Affairs, United Nations

Larry D. Johnson is currently Adjunct Professor of Law at the Columbia University School of Law, teaching a course on “Constitutional Law of the United Nations”. Recently, Mr. Johnson has had special assignments from the United Nations: member of the Secretary-General’s 2009 Headquarters Board of Inquiry into certain incidents in Gaza involving damage to UN property or injury to persons on UN property during the conflict; and representing the Secretary-General during the testimony of UN officials in 2009 and 2010 during trials at the International Criminal Court at The Hague.

Mr. Johnson served as the Assistant-Secretary-General for Legal Affairs from 2006-2008 (Deputy Legal Counsel of the UN). He formerly served as the Legal Adviser of the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna (1997-2001) and as Chef de Cabinet, Office of the President of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia in The Hague (2003-2005).

Mr. Johnson joined the United Nations Office of Legal Affairs in 1971 as an Assistant Legal Officer. Among his special assignments during his UN career was serving as Chief of Staff to the Special Representative of the Secretary-General, United Nations Protection Force in the former Yugoslavia (1994), and member of the teams that drafted the Statutes for the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (1993) and the Special Tribunal for Lebanon (2006).

Previously he taught at the University of California, Davis, School of Law and the New England School of Law. He has also taught at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, NYU’s Center for Global Affairs, the Vienna Diplomatic Academy (Austria) and at the Summer Institute for Global Justice in Utrecht (the Netherlands). Among the organizations to which he belongs are the Council on Foreign Relations, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the American Society of International Law and the American Branch of the International Law Association.

Mr. Johnson received is B.A. from the University of Nebraska, his J.D. from Harvard Law School and his M.P.A. from the John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University.

14 April 2011