

MR. FABIO MOROSINI

Associate Professor

School of Law

Federal University of Rio Grande do Sul

Fabio Morosini is an Associate Professor at the Federal University of Rio Grande do Sul School of Law, in Porto Alegre, Brazil, where he directs the Center for Law, Globalization and Development, and teaches and conducts research on international law; international trade; international investment; and methods in law. He is a research fellow at the National Council of Scientific and Technological Development (CNPq, Ministry of Science and Technology, Brazil), leading a research project on South-South trade and investment relations. During the 2015-2016 academic year, he was a Global Hauser Research Fellow at New York University School of Law. Professor Morosini holds a Ph.D. and an LL.M. from the University of Texas at Austin; a master, with honors, from the University of Paris 1/ Paris' Institute of Political Sciences; and a bachelor of laws from the Catholic University of Rio Grande do Sul. Upon completion of his Ph.D., he was a post-doctoral fellow at the World Trade Organization. His research has received funding from Brazilian and foreign institutions, such as: the Coordination for the Improvement of Higher Education Personnel (CAPES/Ministry of Education), the National Council of Scientific and Technological Development (CNPq/Ministry of Science and Technology), the State of Rio Grande do Sul Research Foundation (FAPERGS), the Inter-American Development Bank, and the World Trade Organization. He is a member of the American Society of International Law and the Society of International Economic Law; director of the International Law Association (Brazil branch); and member of the executive council of the Latin American International Economic Law Network (RED-DEI).