

MS PERI LYNNE JOHNSON

Legal Adviser and Director

Office of Legal Affairs

International Atomic Energy Agency

Ms Johnson joined the Office of Legal Affairs of the IAEA in 2011. Previously, Ms Johnson served nearly 20 years with the United Nations, including in her last capacity as Director of the Legal Office of the United Nations Development Programme in New York.

Before joining the United Nations, Ms Johnson served as Legal Associate at Arnold & Porter, a leading United States law firm, in Washington, D.C., in the litigation and international practice areas.

Ms Johnson is featured in Chapter 7 (International Law) of Lawyers at Work (Cosslett, Apress, 2012), and lectures and publishes on the work of the IAEA, including nuclear safety, security and safeguards, as well as on international administrative law matters.

Since 2011, Ms Johnson has served on the Board of the OECD/NEA International School of Nuclear Law in association with Montpellier University (France).

Ms Johnson earned her B.A. in French Literature (with a focus on Government and International Relations), with distinction in all subjects, from Cornell University in Ithaca, New York, USA, in 1988, and her Juris Doctor from Harvard Law School in Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, in 1991.