

40. Singapore

Statement made in the Sixth Committee, Sixty-seventh session (2012), 22nd meeting, 6 November 2012:<sup>97</sup>

[T]he “provisional” application of treaties is well-used in the area of bilateral and multilateral civil aviation treaties. As an aviation hub, these are matters which are not just of academic interest to Singapore, but also practical application. Interestingly, there are even instances where some provisional bilateral aviation treaties, which although [they] have never entered into force, are subsequently replaced by updated but nevertheless still “provisional” treaties.
