ARTICLE 107

TEXT OF ARTICLE 107

Nothing in the present Charter shall invalidate or preclude action, in relation to any state which during the Second World War has been an enemy of any signatory to the present Charter, taken or authorized as a result of that war by the Governments having responsibility for such action.

NOTE

No decisions requiring treatment under this Article were taken by the organs of the United Nations during the period under review. However, the Article was referred to at various times in the course of discussion of certain issues in the General Assembly, in particular the question of the review of the Charter, when suggestions were made for its deletion on the ground that its provisions had become obsolete.¹
